Project Description

Our office works with IT teams and software developers from across the federal government to improve our ability to serve the American public and maximize the use of their tax-dollars. We help spread stories about agencies that are driving change through open source software and what's working to improve the business of government. We also help lead the President's Management Agenda which lays out a long-term vision for modernizing the Federal Government in key areas that will improve the ability of agencies to deliver mission outcomes, provide excellent service, and effectively steward taxpayer dollars on behalf of the American people.

Mission: The American people count on the Federal Government every day, from national security to infrastructure to food and water safety. We must use the best software technologies and must also have the necessary tools and resources to deliver.

Service: Federal customers range from small businesses seeking loans, to families receiving disaster support, to veterans owed proper benefits and medical care. They deserve to know about, learn and employ software development methods that will help them fulfill those goals.

Stewardship: Effective stewardship of taxpayer funds is a crucial responsibility of Government, from preventing fraud to maximizing impact. Taxpayer dollars must go to effective programs that produce results efficiently. Code.gov helps meet these goals.
